

We make tech work for you
so you can focus on your business

Resilience | Colocation | Emergency Supplies

We are The Mead Group, a business consulting company that addresses real world corporate issues with a technology perspective. Collaborating with the highest levels of technology expertise, you can finally focus on your company's core competencies, and no longer feel you must prioritize or bend to the complexities of digital services. We work with you to understand what you do, then we explain what we do, so YOU can decide what matches your business objectives.

We are an industry leader in design and implementation of Unified Enterprise Continuity (UEC), which is the process of reviewing all facets of business continuity, digital protection, and employee safety and detailing a single unified plan for corporate safety, survival, and longevity at all levels. In order to provide UEC and comprehensive protection at all levels of business, data and people, the Mead Group offers services through three distinct brands:

Mead Group Consulting has 20 years' experience developing business-driven technology solutions for Fortune 500 companies around the world, supporting every aspect of enterprise architecture, from networks to database design. We specialize in rapid deployment ("you had three months, you've got three days"), and business continuity ("this can never, ever go down"). When we approach your issue, we start at your understanding of what you need, and translate it to tech.

Since 1997, ColoCenters has been a leading colocation provider in the Pacific Northwest and offers the highest compliance carrier and bandwidth neutral colocation in the most central location available. Our history of uptime, our reputation for integrity and stability, and our track-record of customer satisfaction speak for themselves. So does our "8-nines" of uptime and our Tier-3 electrical infrastructure.

Nexis Response is a leader in physical and process driven business continuity for Fortune 500 companies. Working with national fulfillment partners, we design the plans and deliver the supplies and training to make your employees safe, your site resilient, and your business secure against unplanned events.
